Skadden

Skadden's International Litigation and Arbitration Group is dedicated to resolving our clients' most difficult, complex and high-value international disputes. We are frequently acknowledged as a world leader with a stellar track record of success.

Our overriding focus is to deliver successful outcomes for our clients, and we pride ourselves on winning our clients' most important disputes through innovative strategies and exceptional client service. We achieve results through a model built on cost-effective teams with close partner involvement throughout. We are one of few firms with three King's Counsel (KC) on our platform in London — a true differentiator in the market.

We apply our deep experience in international arbitration to cases before every major arbitral institution. Our award-winning practice spans both commercial arbitration and investor-state disputes under international treaties in the Americas, Europe, Africa, Asia and the Middle East. We also routinely advise clients on matters of EU law and public international law.

Beyond our experience in international arbitration, our firm is equally a leader in the field of international litigation. We have deep experience in managing disputes that require a coordinated strategy across multiple jurisdictions, often including the courts of the United States, England, Germany, Hong Kong, the British Virgin Islands, Bermuda, Cyprus, the Cayman Islands and other international forums. This work includes acting for clients on cutting-edge issues of jurisdiction, alien tort claims and sovereign immunity before the U.S. courts. We also are adept at working with our clients' local counsel to improve their chances of success when they face critical litigation in a foreign court. By adding strategic value, we have helped our clients to prevail in litigation across Latin America, Europe, Africa, Asia and the Middle East.

Unlike some other firms, we do not separate our international litigation and arbitration departments. This enables us to provide our clients with a unified team through the lifespan of a dispute. For example, we frequently handle cases where an arbitration also involves court applications for interim relief, disclosure orders from the U.S. courts in aid of foreign arbitrations and enforcement proceedings to collect on an international arbitration award. Because many of these applications involve the U.S. courts, our deep presence in the United States can provide a strategic advantage to our clients, even in non-U.S. disputes.

Our lawyers combine their legal acumen and foreign language skills with industry experience gained from representing clients across many sectors. These include energy, metals and mining, oil and gas, retailing, IT, construction, manufacturing, telecommunications, real estate, automotive and financial services.

We also have specific subject-matter experience, including disputes concerning shareholder agreements, joint ventures, busted M&A transactions, supply and distribution contracts, taxation, competition, director and manager liability, EU state aid law and licensing contracts, among others.

Select Notable Representations

Recent successful outcomes that we have delivered for our clients include:

- Successfully represented Agility Public Warehousing Company K.S.C. v. Republic of Iraq in an ICSID annulment proceeding to challenge an adverse 2021 award, obtaining a rare partial annulment. Skadden continues to represent Agility in this action.
- Successful resolution of a decades-long dispute concerning an expropriated oil field in Latin America, in which our client once held a substantial economic interest that it assigned to a third party shortly before the asset was expropriated. Judgment on the award (totaling over $550 million) was entered in December 2021, and was amicably settled in 2024.
- Successfully represented DP World in a BIT claim against the Kingdom of Belgium, arising out of the taking of DP World’s concession in the port of Antwerp, Europe’s second-largest port.
- Representing Vodafone International Holdings B.V. in its landmark victory against the Republic of India under the Netherlands-India bilateral investment treaty. In its September 2020 award, an UNCITRAL tribunal held that India’s attempt to impose a $5.5 billion liability onto Vodafone and its Indian subsidiary — through retroactive withholding taxes, interest and penalties — was in breach of international law.
- Represented CC/Devas (Mauritius) Ltd., Telcom Devas Mauritius Devas and another claimant in obtaining an October 2020 award of over $165 million as compensation for the expropriation of their investments in a satellite project, a seizure that was unanimously held to violate the Mauritius-India BIT. The project involved the provision of satellite and terrestrial audiovisual, broadband and mobile services in India.
- Obtaining a substantial (and record-setting) investment treaty award in the Spanish renewable sector for the Dutch subsidiaries of NextEra Energy: €292 million plus attorneys’ fees in an ICSID arbitration under the Energy Charter Treaty. In March 2022, the ICSID Annulment committee denied an application to annul the

- “Skadden boasts a very active, swift and responsive team. The lawyers are particularly knowledgeable and experienced.” (client quote, Chambers Latin America)

- “As a team, they were particularly well coordinated. There was a genuine camaraderie between them and a care for each other.” (respondent quote, Chambers Greater China)

- “Skadden’s HK office has a very strong team, focusing on high value international arbitration work.” (testimonial, The Legal 500)

- award. In February 2023, Skadden obtained a well-publicized “anti-anti-suit injunction” from the D.C. courts, which prevented Spain from pursuing injunctive relief in Europe that would have blocked NextEra from enforcing the €290.6 million ICSID award it won in 2019 for breaches of the Energy Charter Treaty.
- Served as lead counsel for a Canadian pharmaceutical device company in a large ICDR arbitration against its U.S. distributor, in which our client claimed breach of a U.S. distribution agreement, including failure to honor a commitment to promote and market the products in question, and sought equitable and declaratory relief in order to terminate its long-term contract. The arbitration commenced in May 2022, and a tribunal was constituted thereafter, and a settlement was reached in April 2023.
- Defeated a significant claim (of almost $500 million) against Emaar Properties, a multinational real estate development company in a Phase 1 merits hearing lasting over two weeks.
- Led Megapolis (one of Russia’s largest consumer goods distribution companies) to victory in a complex LCIA arbitration, valued in excess of $300 million.
- Successfully represented the Hellenic Republic Asset Development Fund in a €100 million LCIA arbitration proceeding brought by investors in the privatized Greek lottery in relation to tax changes.
- Secured an arbitration victory for Rakesh Gangwal, the former CEO and chairman of US Airways and one of the two billionaire founders of India’s largest airline, IndiGo. The LCIA arbitration concerned a dispute over related party transactions and corporate governance.
- Successfully acted for a company that manages a global freeware, cross-platform, cloud-based instant messaging software and application service, in a series of LCIA arbitrations.

  - NextEra Energy Global Holdings BV and NextEra Energy Spain Holdings BV in the successful prosecution of claims under the Energy Charter Treaty arising out of changes to Spanish law in the renewable energy sector. In May 2019, an ICSID tribunal awarded €292 million plus attorneys' fees in favor of Skadden's clients. At the time it was issued, this was the largest damages award rendered against Spain in the renewable sector.
  - Vodafone Group Plc & Vodafone Consolidated Holdings Limited in pending investment treaty proceedings against the Republic of India arising out of retroactive changes to Indian tax legislation.
  - The Republic of Cyprus in its successful defense of BIT claims arising out of its regulatory treatment of the nation's second-largest bank during the eurozone financial crisis. In a July 2018 award, an ICSID tribunal upheld Cyprus' defenses in full, rejected claims by the bank's former shareholders that had sought more than €1 billion in damages, and awarded attorneys' fees in favor of Skadden's client.
  - CC/Devas (Mauritius) Ltd., Telcom Devas Mauritius Devas and another claimant in a pending $1.6 billion investment dispute with the Republic of India, under the Mauritius-India BIT. The dispute concerns the cancellation of a contract regarding the provision by Devas Multimedia Private Limited of satellite and terrestrial audiovisual, broadband and mobile services in India. Skadden's client obtained a favorable merits award, and the damages phase of the case is pending.
  - The Republic of Moldova in the successful defense of a BIT claim in the banking sector. In a 2017 award, a tribunal constituted under the SCC Arbitration Rules upheld Moldova's defenses in full and awarded attorneys' fees in favor of Skadden's client.
  - The Republic of South Sudan in its oil sector negotiations and related international law issues following its secession from the Republic of Sudan. This included the successful defense of ICSID proceedings brought by Sudapet Co. Ltd. (the state oil company of Sudan) concerning the ownership of significant oil field interests (disputed amount exceeding $1 billion). Legal Business named Skadden as its 2017 International Arbitration Team of the Year for the defense of this case.
  - Global Telecom and VimpelCom in an investment treaty claim against Algeria arising out of tax reassessments exceeding $1 billion, foreign exchange fines of $1.3 billion and a ban on dividend distribution. In April 2014, the claims resulted in a settlement agreement providing for cash payments to our clients of $4 billion, the free transfer of future dividends and a new joint venture arrangement with the Algerian government.
  - The Slovak Republic in its successful defense of a BIT dispute involving claims in excess of €1 billion, a result named as one of The American Lawyer's five Biggest Defense Wins in its global survey of international arbitration for 2011-13.
  - Cemex Caracas I & II in an ICSID arbitration seeking to recover damages for Venezuela's 2008 takeover of a major cement company. The claim, based on the Netherlands-Venezuela investment treaty, was settled successfully.
  - Investors in the well-known ICSID case of Kardassopoulos and Fuchs v. Georgia, resulting in a damages award of approximately $100 million under the Energy Charter Treaty and two BITs. At an earlier phase of the dispute, Skadden also established a landmark jurisdictional precedent concerning provisional application of the Energy Charter Treaty. This matter received a Global Arbitration Review award in 2012 for most impressive arbitration practice and a "standout" ranking from the Financial Times Innovative Lawyers Report.
  - Investors in successfully settling the defense of annulment proceedings and revision proceedings under the ICSID Convention, as well as securing the lifting of a stay on enforcement of an ICSID award.
  - Grupo Dolphin/Pampa in connection with its rights under the 2005 contracts governing the purchase by a Pampa affiliate of Electricidad de Argentina S.A. (the parent of Buenos Aires utility EDENOR) from EDF of France. When Dolphin acquired EASA/DENOR in 2005, pending before ICSID was a $1.2 billion claim brought by EASA and EDF against Argentina under the France-Argentina BIT, relating to damages suffered by EDF/EASA from prior Argentine tariff reduction legislation. Dolphin acquired EASA on terms that both allowed EDENOR to renegotiate a new tariff with the Argentine government, and permitted Dolphin to direct the withdrawal of EDF/EASA's pending ICSID claim (which remained suspended pending the tariff renegotiation).
  - A Singaporean investor in successfully settling ICSID proceedings against Indonesia involving claims valued at more than $300

- Houston Industries in Houston Industries v. Argentina, one of the first investment arbitrations brought against the Republic of Argentina before ICSID and brought pursuant to the U.S.-Argentine BIT.
- A French investor in resolving on amicable terms an investment treaty dispute against Georgia under the ICSID Rules, valued at several hundred million dollars.
- The government of a Middle Eastern Emirate in its review of treaty protections in the context of a very significant 25-year concession over an infrastructure asset.
- Gambrinus Corp. in ICSID proceedings under the Barbados-Venezuela BIT relating to the 2010 expropriation of its stake in Fertinetro, a large fertilizer manufacturer.
- Numerous investors in investment treaty structuring matters across a very wide range of countries and industries. We routinely counsel clients on ways to hedge against political risk by structuring their investments to benefit from investment treaty protection (details of clients confidential).

EU Law and State Aid Litigation

- Kingfisher in the EC's state aid investigation into the U.K. CFC scheme and subsequent EU court appeal.
- A global energy supplier in an EC state aid investigation into the company's contractual arrangements with an EU member state.
- A global pharmaceutical company in the context of a preliminary EC state aid investigation and potential proceedings before the EU courts in relation to the company's tax arrangements.
- Renewable energy investors in arbitration proceedings and an EC investigation concerning allegedly unnotified state aid.
- The Republic of Cyprus in a dispute involving the application of EU state aid rules in the banking sector.
- An informal investigation commenced by the European Commission concerning the manner in which Ireland has been taxing a major pharmaceutical company in relation to its Irish companies and operations and whether this conforms to EU laws on state aid.
- A client in an LCIA arbitration arising out of a share purchase agreement.
- A client in a dispute concerning an appeal against an upcoming decision of the European Commission regarding the U.K. Controlled Foreign Companies laws.

- Two international investment arbitrations where states have pleaded EU State Aid Rules as part of their substantive defense.

English High Court Experience

- An international investment bank in connection with disputes arising under certain structured finance products in proceedings in the English High Court and in New York (valued in excess of US$1.5 billion).
- AAR (Alfa, Access & Renova) in its dispute with BP over the oil major's attempt to form a US$16 billion strategic alliance with Rosneft, the state-owned Russian oil company, for the exploration of oil in the Arctic Circle. The dispute involved obtaining an emergency injunction blocking the deal in the High Court.
- Dmitry Rybolovlev in claims against Yves Bouvier, Sotheby's and Samuel Valette, arising from a large-scale fraud conducted against him in relation to the purchase of a US$2 billion portfolio of artwork.
- Roman Abramovich in his successful defense of the multibillion-dollar proceedings brought against him in the English High Court by the late Boris Berezovsky (the largest private litigation in the world).
- AP Holdings Southaven LLC in proceedings in the English High Court relating to an ICC arbitration.
- Philip Morris International in a challenge to an EU directive and national legislation brought by various EU member states, (including a challenge in the English Courts).
- Anheuser-Busch Inbev in a complex multimillion-dollar contingent value rights claim involving a CVC-owned fund Starbev LP.
- Indian businessman Arvind Tiku in successfully defending a claim alleging that he fraudulently induced the claimants into selling shares in a Toronto-listed oil and gas company Nelson Resources Limited.

  - An international bank in proceedings before the English High Court by a monoline insurer in relation to alleged misrepresentations in connection with a finance transaction in the European wind energy industry.
  - A car manufacturer in relation to standalone and follow-on damages claims issued against it in the London High Court.
  - Acting in the high-profile defenses of a High Court litigation brought in connection with the sale of shares in one of Russia's largest mining companies.

International Litigation in the US Courts

- A New York-based private equity company against fraud claims in federal court brought by a Luxembourg company over the acquisition and on-sale of a Quebec-based mining products company with a significant presence in operations Latin America.
- The Argentine Social Security Administration (ANSES), in a complex case before the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit that raised issues of sovereign immunity for state-owned pension funds in circumstances where the creditors of the Republic of Argentina sought to seize $200 million of the assets of Argentina's social security administration in order to satisfy debts owed by the Republic. The U.S. Supreme Court rejected the last appeal by creditors seeking to attach assets located in New York.
- A foreign client in connection with several claims under Title III of the Helms-Burton Act. Title III provides a private right of action to U.S. nationals whose property was expropriated by the Cuban government on or after January 1, 1959, allowing them to sue anyone who knowingly and intentionally "traffics" in that property. Helms-Burton attracted international controversy on its enactment in 1996, and Title III was continuously suspended by multiple U.S. administrations until April 17, 2019, when the Trump administration lifted that suspension. The defense of claims under the statute (thus far successfully for Skadden's client) has raised complex issues of constitutional and international law.
- IRB-Brasil Resseguros, S.A., the largest reinsurer in South America, in multiple actions seeking to recover amounts due under certain global notes in which judgments in excess of $100 million were obtained for IRB and affirmed in a seminal case by New York's highest court.

- an international investment bank in connection with disputes involving proceedings in New York and London relating to several billion dollars of structured finance products.

International Discovery in the US Under 28. U.S.C. 1782

- Numerous settings where the cross-border discovery statute (Section 1782) has been used in an attempt to get U.S. style discovery in aid of foreign litigation or arbitration, including where the overseas proceedings occurred in Australia, India and England. In a recent case (Interglobe v. Khanna), Skadden successfully intervened and secured an order to quash deposition and discovery subpoenas issued on a potential witness in Maryland, purportedly in aid of LCIA India arbitration in New Delhi. The Maryland federal district court accepted Skadden's arguments and held it would not be proper for a U.S. court to impose its own procedures on the arbitral process.
- An international investment bank in connection with disputes involving proceedings in New York and London, in the course of which we simultaneously prosecuted and defended ten different 1782 applications in Illinois, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.
- U.S. respondents connected with a large Taiwanese manufacturing group in successfully opposing Section 1782 proceedings in New Jersey and Washington, D.C., which were commenced in connection with multibillion dollar claims brought in the courts of Hong Kong and Bermuda.
- A global beverage company in a complex commercial trial in the U.K., in the course of which we obtained critical evidence through a 1782 application in Colorado that helped secure our client's victory.
- A Cayman-incorporated tech company in defending multiple 1782 applications in New York, Delaware, Washington, D.C., California and Arizona against persons and entities connected with a 2020 transaction in which a large Chinese enterprise was taken private, along with associated efforts in the Cayman courts to enjoin or limit improper discovery.
- A Hong Kong-based fund in coordinating 1782 applications in New York, California and Nevada to obtain 1782 deposition and document discovery from high-net-worth individuals and associated nonprofit companies, all in support of a Cayman Islands shareholder lawsuit against incumbent management — including defeating multiple motions to quash the subpoenas. The case included consideration of the effects of China's new data security law.
