Al Hogan has more than 20 years of experience as a commercial litigator and serves as lead counsel in major disputes in state and federal courts around the country at both the trial and appellate levels. He also has significant experience in business arbitrations involving commercial disputes.

Mr. Hogan has represented a broad range of clients in high-priority cases involving merger and acquisition disputes, commercial contracts, antitrust, intellectual property, securities class actions, ERISA class actions and corporate control challenges. Cutting across industries and legal issues, Mr. Hogan's practice emphasizes a trial-ready approach, with the goal of achieving business-minded results through careful and creative advocacy.

He also has significant experience in restructuring and bankruptcy matters and has represented debtors, committees and creditors in core bankruptcy issues and litigation related to bankruptcies. Complementing his commercial litigation experience, Mr. Hogan's restructuring work routinely involves valuation, capital structure and business judgment issues, and he frequently is called upon to obtain favorable solutions to companies' most critical disputes.

Mr. Hogan has been recognized by Chambers USA, in which clients have described him as a "smart and fearless oral advocate," The Best Lawyers in America for his litigation work and The American Lawyer as a Litigator of the Week for his efforts on a major trial win on behalf of CME Group, Inc. and the Chicago Board of Trade. Additionally, he has been named one of Lawdragon's 500 Leading Global Litigators and 500 Leading Litigators in America.
