The EC ultimately suspended its investigation in relation to both Thomas Cook and Kuoni without penalty, with the investigation resulting in an infringement finding only against Melia
- GE in relation to allegations of anticompetitive practices in the maintenance and repair of commercial aircraft engines by CFM International, a GE joint venture with Safran Aircraft Engines following a complaint to the EC by the International Air Transport Association (IATA). Following a successful resolution of IATA's concerns through a settlement agreement, IATA withdrew its complaint and the EC closed its inquiry
- Xperi and Auro in relation to a complaint with the EC regarding Dolby's post-processing policy. After discussions with the EC, Dolby withdrew all limitations that it placed on the use of third-party post-processing technologies
- ABB in its successful appeal before the European Court of Justice against the EC's power cable cartel decision that had been confirmed by the General Court
